Freemasonry—A Factor in European Politics.

ON the occasion of the German Emperor's recent visit to Rome Signor Adriano Lemmi, Grand Orient of the Masonic Lodges, issued a circular which, a contemporary informs us, was couched in the "usual vituperative style of such documents." It is asserted that therein the Pope is stigmatised as a "ridiculous pretender," and "a knife planted in the heart of Italy," and concludes thus: "Let us persevere, brethren, in our work of redemption. Let the Masonic idea continue to be like the ether, which penetrates everywhere, and in which all moves and has its being. Let us scatter abroad and cultivate the seeds of our doctrine. The old world is dissolving; what matter? from its ruins rises another newer and fairer. Let us work armed at the temple of humanity, and comfort ourselves with the thought that the most formidable enemy is already overthrown; that no force of reaction avails to arrest progress, and the day is approaching when all nations will compose a single family of freemen, equals and brothers, and perfecting themselves in the school of mutual love, will give laws and auspices to the reign of human happiness."

It is neither our province nor wish to analyse the thoughts or actions of any of our foreign brethren or their lodges. Whether the hidden machinery available for action is used by the leaders of the craft in Italy, or elsewhere, for political purposes, we do not inquire. Suffice it for us English Freemasons, who are forbidden to introduce either religious dogmas or political theories, to stand aloof from all such practices. Indirectly, however, the whole Order is attacked by language such as is used in an English newspaper, a copy of which now lies before us, in reference to the craft abroad, and of which the following example may suffice to show its tenor:—

"The Grand Orient of Italy, the head of the blasphemous hierarchy of freethinkers and infidels, holds in his impious grasp the representative of divine authority on earth, the embodiment of that teaching power which was the last bequest to the Church from its founder." We only shall give in reference hereto, however, an extract from the work of a world-renowned orator and statesman in reference to some of the speeches of Pio Nono. "But who, may it be asked, are these 'impious,' whose breath has the stench of a putrid sepulchre? The answer is more easy than agreeable. They are simply the Liberals of Italy. This is the favourite word for them, and a phrase almost exclusively indeed appropriated to their use. One passage in particular fixes the meaning beyond doubt. The Holy Father says, 'In Rome not only is it attempted to diffuse impiety all around, but men even dare to teach heresy, and to spread unbelief.' Now, as impiety proper is the last and worst result of heresy or unbelief, it is strange at first sight to find it placed on a lower grade in the scale of sins. But when we remember that in these volumes it simply means Italian liberalism, the natural order of things is perfectly restored."

With the tenets and teachings of our lodges the outside world has nothing to do; it must accept as a guarantee of their rectitude the fact that in our ranks royalty and nobility take prominent parts. Our acts of charity, patent to all, speak for themselves. Our members may belong to any religious sect they please, provided they acknowledge the great prime cause, the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob; toleration in matters ethical is one of the landmarks of our Order, but is toleration extended upwards? By one powerful religious body, no! There has been, and it appears likely ever to be, a great gulf between the Roman Catholic party and our body; why this should have been so we know not, nor do we stop to enquire. Time after time fanatical attempts have been made to repress, if not utterly extinguish, the Order; but these have all met the same fate—defeat. So it will ever be; but "the Masonic idea will continue to be like the ether which penetrates everywhere." In these days, when multifarious agencies are at work all over the world for the avowed purpose of civilization and enlightenment, it is a significant fact that Freemasonry treads very closely on their heels, "working," as Signor Lemmi appears to say, "armed at the temple of humanity." To the thinker, and there are many such in the ranks of our opponents, this must be a significant fact. "No force of reaction" will avail to arrest its progress." This would never be the case were our system at fault in either the concrete or the abstract. Steadily and silently, but with unerring certainty, it steps on, and the day will come "when all nations will compose a single family of freemen, equals and brothers."

The fatuous ravings of ultramontaniam can never obscure the light which comes from above, and devices for electoral purposes, whether made use of by one party or the other, will not alter one iota the programme embodied in our great watchwords, "Brotherly love, relief and truth," and ought not to cause us to be less in charity with all men.

Living in England, free men, under a beneficent rule, the peculiar systems in vogue on the Continent in regard to any electoral struggle, such as is about to take place in Germany, are but imperfectly understood or appreciated, and the organisations which exist for the purpose of furthering this or that party's interests in the State are practically unknown here. Freemasonry amongst many other societies is made a potent lever by the school of advanced thought, and Masonic Lodges may be compared in some respect to the Jacobin clubs at the close of the last century in France. The use of the name of the G.A.O.T.U. having been discarded by the Grand Orient, the Grand Orient is no longer recognised by us; but the principles on which the Order is founded remain practically unaltered. Those principles it is our duty to defend from whatsoever quarter they may be attacked, and, confident in the rectitude of our purpose and of the excellencies of the craft with which we are identified, we can await with calmness any attempt to discredit or hinder us, no matter from what quarter it may come, and shall never have to say with Virgil, "Heu prisca fides!" In his preface to the Vatican decrees in their bearing on civil allegiance, Mr. Gladstone writes thus: "The Latin Church has probably a hundred and eighty millions of nominal adherents; a clergy counted by hundreds of thousands; a thousand bishops, and the Pope at their head. Nearly the entire hierarchical power in this great communion, together with a faction everywhere spread and everywhere active among its laity, are now deliberately set upon a design distinguished by the following characteristics. Internally it aims at the total destruction of right. Not of right as opposed to wrong, but of right as opposed to arbitrary will. Such right there shall be none, if the conspiracy succeeds, in the bishops against the Pope, in the clergy against the bishops or the Pope, in the laity against any of the three. Externally, it maintains the right and duty of the Spirituality, thus organised, to override at will, in respect of right and wrong, the entire action of the civil power; and likewise to employ force, as and when it may think fit, for the fulfilment of its purposes." Our readers must judge for themselves what kind of liberty obtains where such pernicious doctrine is promulgated, and, consequently, with what a jaundiced eye our free institution must be regarded.

HOW TO HAVE A GOOD LODGE.

IT is in the power of the members of any Masonic Lodge to make it a good Lodge, and equally in their power to make it the reverse. To make or to mar their Lodge is the prerogative of its constituent members.

But what is a good Lodge?

It is one which it is pleasant to belong to and pleasant to visit; one which is distinguished for its correct and impressive rendering of the work; one which is noted for the high character and fraternal good feeling of its members; one which scans closely the qualities of every applicant for initiation and membership, and approves or rejects him according as he is morally and materially fit or unfit, and does not accept him simply because he comes with money in his hands; one which is at unity with itself, and not a divided household; one which is noted for its charity, wisely and liberally dispensed; and one that combines Refreshment with Labour on all convenient occasions. Such a Lodge is a good Lodge, a credit to the Grand Lodge of which it is a constituent, and a beneficent power in the Craft and in the community.

Now, how shall such a Lodge be created or fostered?

This work is not and cannot be the work of any one brother, but must be the result of the harmonious co-operation and action of many, if not of all. If there be even one decided "crank" in a Lodge he will mar the work of all the rest. But while one can destroy, no one can create. The honour of making a good Lodge cannot be claimed by any one brother, although some, from their official positions of influence and power, naturally may contribute more than others to the happy result which the brethren of all Lodges should aspire to accomplish, viz., the credit of having the best Lodge in their city or vicinity.

The first brother in influence and power is unquestionably the W.M. of a Lodge. He is an officer whom the Craft has entrusted with regal prerogatives. He has no equal in the Lodge. Every proceeding is under his control. He may convene his Lodge at pleasure, and close it at pleasure. Yet, though he be possessed of such authority, he rarely, if ever, uses it for ought but the promotion of the welfare of the masonic body. The possession of great power is almost invariably accompanied by a sense of responsibility for its right exercise. Very, very few Masters of Lodges err in wilfully exercising their prerogatives for improper purposes. More than any other brother, therefore, the Master has the ability to promote the highest prosperity of a Lodge. This he may do by the regularity and punctuality of his attendance at all meetings, the correctness and force with which he works the degrees, the example he sets of fraternal fellowship with the members, thereby promoting their mutual acquaintance, and the social virtues taught by the Craft; the promptness with which he visits, sympathizes with and relieves the sick, and the solemnity and fraternal feeling with which he buries the masonic dead; the grace with which he presides over his brethren while they surround the social board at refreshment, and the interest he displays in all the affairs of the Lodge. The Master who is facile in the performance of all these duties contributes thereby the lion's share towards making a good Lodge.

The elective and appointed officers are the next most potent factors for good in the Lodge. If they be always in their places, doing their own proper work, it will be well done, and the machinery of the Lodge will be in good working order. With a good Master, Wardens, and appointed officers, promptly in their places and knowing their work, one of the most valuable elements in a Lodge will be always present—skilfully performed work. Without this no Lodge can prosper; with it no Lodge can fail.

Next, the Past Masters should adequately and well support the officers of a Lodge, if it is to be permanently a good Lodge. The experience of the Past Masters cannot be dispensed with, if the Lodge is to prosper. They are the anchors of the Lodge when storms arise, while the officers are the sails of the Lodge when favouring breezes blow. Under any and all circumstances it is important that they be present, to lend whenever needed the aid of their counsel and advise.

Last of all it is the duty of every member to contribute his proper share to the promotion of the general welfare, and if any large number of the members fail to do this, the difficulty will be measurably increased for the remainder to make a good Lodge. There must be hearty co-operation from all the members to ensure the ready accomplishment of this work.—Keystone.

"THE OLD MASONIANS."—The members and friends of the above Association met on Friday evening last at Anderton's Hotel for their second social evening. The chair was ably filled by Bro. J. Swinford Francis. Mr. Morris opened the ball with a pianoforte solo, and he was followed by Mr. W. J. Packer who sang "The last of the Boys;" Mr. C. Howard Uwins gave "The Will-o'-the-Wisp." "Encore, encore," was his reward. He cheerfully replied with the "German Drinking Song." Mr. E. Pontis Lines gave a capital rendering of "The Owl," "They all love Jack," and the "Maid of Athens" (encore). The recitations by Mr. W. A. Glass, Mr. R. Harold Williams and Mr. Frank Scurr were all of high merit. Mr. L. H. Palmer supplied the comic element, and all his songs were thoroughly appreciated, for he never fails to amuse his audience and to provoke merriment. A vote of thanks to the chair and the singing of the National Anthem brought the evening to a close. We notice that the next fixture is a Cinderella ball. We think the Association is doing well to repeat these little dances. The one they gave last year was a great success, and we can only wish that they may be even more successful this season. We are sure that they would be pleased to welcome any brethren who would care to attend, and we are informed that tickets may be obtained on application to the Secretary, 17, Abbey Gardens, St. John's Wood.

THE PATH OF LIFE.

THY path in life may open fair, my brother,
It's skies be bright, and sunshine gild the way;
While dewdrops glisten in its beams, and song-birds,
With joyous carol, hail the glad some day :—
Yet, ere thy noontide goal is reached, how often
O'ercast with clouds may be that azure sky ;
While passion's storm winds blast thy peace nor sof
Till hope's fair blossoms shivering fade and die.
Still keep thy Faith with steadfast heart, my brother,
Nor fail in Love, thy duties to perform ;
And then this comfort shall be thine, my brother :
There sitteth One above Who rules the storm !
Or should thy lot by Poverty o'ershaded
Condemn thy steps to pace the toilsome ground
Of petty cares and sorrows all unaided
By Fortune, though she showers her gifts around ;
Though cold and footsore, wayworn, weak, and weary,
Life's joyless road thy faltering feet may tread,
Nor find a single friend whose greeting cheery
O'er thy lone wanderings might Love's radiance shed ;
Still toil thou bravely on thy way, my brother,
Lest dark despair should crush thy heart forlorn ;
And take this comfort to thy soul, my brother,
"When night is darkest then, then comes the morn."

Thus, whether summer skies be bright above thee,
Or wintry snows enshroud thee with their gloom ;
If friends and kindred crown thy years and love thee,
Or lone and friendless thou approach the tomb,
Stay not for sorrow's tears nor joys beguiling
But manfully thine onward course pursue ;
And heeding neither Fortune's frowns nor smiling,
To God, thy neighbour, and thyself be true.
So speed thou ever on with bold endeavour,
Nor falter though thy feet be bruised and torn ;
Thy journey o'er, the clouds of Doubt shall sever,
And Death's dark night give place to endless morn.

"For the Master to lay lines and draw designs upon."

ALL communications should be forwarded to 59, Moor Lane, Fore Street, E.C., London. Those relating to Editorial matter to be addressed to the EDITOR; and all others to Messrs. ADAMS BROS.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.—With this number (14) we commence a new quarter. Our friends who have been supplied with the first thirteen numbers and have not remitted to our publishers, Messrs. ADAMS BROS., will oblige by now doing so; and their orders for continued supply will be esteemed. We can supply copies from No. 1, but only to a limited extent, as an early number is nearly out of print. In remitting from abroad, subscribers will please note terms stated under our inner title.

A correspondent asks us "Is there a Masonic Directory published (and, if so, by whom) giving addresses of secretaries of lodges throughout the United Kingdom?" We know of none such; nor do we see how anything of the sort could be prepared with any assurance of correctness, the office of secretary being only held from year to year. The place of meeting of a lodge should be at all times sufficient for the purpose of official communication.

We read in a Sydney paper that, in connection with a presentation by the members of a lodge to a lady, in return for great hospitality and kindness, the present was handed to the fair recipient by a brother described as "(96 deg.) probably the highest mason in the colonies." We, of course, understand what is meant, but it reads funny; and we can well imagine a stranger to our mysteries taking it for granted that the phrase alludes to stature, and wondering what would be the equivalent in feet and inches. He might even be led to believe that there are Masonic Giants in these days as there were giants in the past.

The Masonic Record of Western India, published at Allahabad, favours us with commendation as to our "printing, type, paper and mental pabulum;" hoping for, yet doubting, our ultimate success; and publishing in full our Editorial, "Is publication injurious to Freemasonry?" in No. 4, "a subject which should elicit some strong opinions from the fraternity." We thank our contemporary for its praise and good wishes, and throw ourselves upon the craft generally to dispel future doubts as to eventual success.

We shall call attention in an early number, to some "Notes on the Ceremony of Installation," by our worthy brother H. Sadler (author of "Masonic Facts and Fictions"), and which are now passing through the pages of our contemporary, the Freemason. More particularly shall we refer to the original constitution, in 1827, of a Board or Lodge of Installed Masters, which acknowledged "the importance that all rites and ceremonies in the craft should be conducted with uniformity and correctness," and endeavour to ascertain how the powers then granted have not been regularly exercised for so many years past. The subject will interest very many brethren, who, in former years, have shared in the proceedings of real Boards of Installed Masters, and lament the carelessness and apathy which has brought about the almost entire abandonment of a beautiful and unique ritual.

We regret to hear that Bro. Hugh D. Sandeman, P.D.G.M., Bengal, has met with a serious accident from a fall from a ladder, thereby sustaining a severe fracture of the thigh.

It is said that by the formation of the United Grand Lodge of New South Wales, of which the Governor of the Colony, Bro. Lord Carrington, P.G.W. Eng., was recently installed Grand Master, the United Grand Lodge of England will lose as many as eighty lodges from its present register.

Bro. the Right Honourable Lord George Hamilton, M.P., has been elected Worshipful Master of the Chiswick Lodge, 2012, of which Bro. George Everett, P.M., is Treasurer (and candidate for the office of Grand Treasurer) and Bro. George Gardner is Secretary.

ALLAHABAD.

Lord Connemara will be installed as Master of Lodge "Perfect Unanimity" on the 23rd inst., and the following day he will be installed District Grand Master of Madras. The ceremony will be performed in the Banqueting Hall, it is believed by His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught.

On the 17th inst. at the Woolwich Artillery Theatre, an original comic operetta, entitled Our Court, the music by Bro. J. Weaver, and the libretto by Messrs. Humphrey and John Addison, was produced. It contains an amusing story of East London life, and the music is bright and pretty—quite in keeping with the homely story—and went exceedingly well.

Review.

THE RELIGION OF FREEMASONRY.—By Bro. Henry Josiah Whympier, P. Dep. D.G.M., Punjab; with an Introduction by Bro. W. J. Hughan, P.G.S.D. Eng.; Edited by Bro. G. W. Speth, P.M., Secretary of "Quatuor Coronati" Lodge, London; and published by Bro. George Kenning, 1888.

We have deferred for a week or two, since acknowledgment, notice of this important work, desiring to make the fullest acquaintance with its pages before expressing an opinion. Its contents are most interesting, and deserve earnest consideration from all readers, whether they incline towards or disagree with the object in support of which they have been written. We are not prepared to acquiesce in all the arguments of the author, rather are we disposed to think the general question such as could not at the present time be thoroughly discussed with safety or satisfaction. It may be that later, the desire for the continuance of "Masonry Universal" may not be so strong as now, and then the suggestions made as to the admission of other "Great Lights" than that we have defined and acknowledge may have attention. The separation of Lodges from the Craft as at present constituted to meet the views of religionists and render the Order less cosmopolitan, would, in our judgment, be a fatal error for Freemasonry; and, so far, we cannot be in accord with our talented Brother. Nevertheless, his admirable work is full of interest and information, and its perusal has given us great delight. We do not hesitate to say that it should be known to every member of the Order who desires "light—more light."

We extract the following from a chapter on "English and Foreign Constitutions, &c.," as a concise exposition of the premises upon which the author's arguments are based. Referring to certain changes in the Constitutions as set forth in the earliest charges, he says:—

"Whilst we must deplore the changes which have been made, we must not further be blind to the results which have accrued from them in India. By the elimination of Christianity a very different institution now exists there to that which prevailed in Britain prior to 1717, and into which it is tolerably certain neither Mahomedan nor Parsee could, or would have entered. The institution has now so changed its character that there is no bar to any of these peoples, or to their beliefs. The political good which must result, even if no other arises, cannot of course be ignored, and we use the word 'political' in its widest sense, and as apart from national or party politics. Neither do we wish to deprive the Craft of the mission of charity which it is thus enabled to perform. None can value more highly than we do our Jewish and Parsee brothers; they fulfil most scrupulously the glorious and sublime injunction first enunciated by our Grand Master and Redeemer, and since sedulously preached by our Fraternity, 'Love one another.' But we maintain that their co-operation has been maintained on a wrong footing: the arrangements gradually introduced to conciliate them have caused us to violate our principles and veil our faith, and must in the long run entail the contempt of these very Brethren themselves. THEY never for one moment sink their professions or belief; on the contrary, they have secured for a visible symbol of their faiths a place of honour in our Indian Lodges. It is not required of us as Masons to acknowledge any religion as being equally true with our own. We owe due respect to the cherished faith of a brother who is dear to us, but we are not called upon to raise it to a place of honour beside our own. In doing so we are recreants to our own faith, and therefore bad Masons. Our Indian Brothers assert their Faith, whilst respecting ours, and are therefore good Masons. The only legitimate, honest, and manly way is to be true to one's self and one's creed. In the First Degree, every God-fearing man may be admitted, and obligated on that book which he holds most dear and sacred; but in an English lodge the Bible must not be displaced; it is our Great Light, not the symbol thereof. This fact impressed upon our Indian brother, naturally meets with his dissent. Shall we, then, retract our words, and say: 'Oh no, we mistake. The Zendavesta is the Great Light, at least, whilst we are addressing you!' Let us be honest, and say: 'Brother, this is our Great Light, it is not yours. Remain our dearly beloved brother; on this point we differ. Come and see us as a visitor, and be always heartily welcomed; but if you cannot accept our Light, betake you to a Lodge which shall reverence YOUR Great Light. Form there a lodge composed entirely of your own faith, where you may confer the second and third degrees according to your conscience; but do not profess for one moment to believe there can be a plurality of Great Lights, and do not attempt to constrain us to any such profession: it would be a mere mockery. We cannot accord your Great Light a place in our hearts equal to our own, neither can you do the same by ours. We should neither of us believe our own professions. But in your own lodge we will visit you as a brother, and show that respect to YOUR Great Light which our consideration for your feelings demands, and you will, without violence to your religious sentiments, do likewise when visiting us.' Thus, and thus only can we be consistent as Masons, as Christians, as Jews, as honest believers in any religion."

We shall take an early opportunity to refer again to this interesting work; and more particularly to the chapters on the Lectures and the Ritual, in which are to be found most instructive passages. Meanwhile, a kind and brotherly word may be said in commendation of Bro. Hughan's prefatory remarks, and of Bro. Speth's careful editing. Bro. Whympier is now in India, but he leaves with us a work which, however we may decide upon its arguments, will keep his memory green in England.

WILL any brother greatly oblige a P.M. and P.Z. by kindly forwarding to him a spare copy of their Lodge or Chapter summons, as he is endeavouring to form a complete collection of them from No. 1 upwards.—Address, C. E. FERRY, 55, Tregunter Road, South Kensington, S.W.—[ADVT.]

The officers having entered in procession, the Lodge was opened with solemn prayer and music. A ballot was taken for Bro. G. H. Thynne, of the Parthenon Lodge, No. 581, a joining member, and was found clear. Awaiting the arrival of the Deputy Pro. Grand Master, the subscribing members to the Charitable Association of the Lodge balloted for two life subscriberships to the masonic institutions, which fell respectively to Bros. J. George and T. Ardley, P.M., P.G.S.D. The V.W. Dep. Prov. G.M., the Rev. C. J. Martyn, was then announced, received with salutations, and the ceremony of installation was at once proceeded with. Bro. C. Joslin, S.W. and W.M. elect, was presented by Bro. Mason, and was inducted in due form and with perfect ceremony into the chair of K.S., and received the salutations of all present in the usual manner. I.P.M. Bro. Mason was then invested, and the officers appointed and invested were—Bros. Charles W. Lord, S.W.; Mitchell Reid, J.W.; V.W. Bro. the Rev. C. J. Martyn, P.M., P.G.C., Chap.; W. Bro. Joseph F. Hills, P.M., Treas.; W. Bro. Frederick Wheeler, P.M., Sec.; Bernard Hurst, D.C. and Org.; William Bailey, S.D.; Ephraim Andrews, J.D.; Harris Hills, I.G.; Joseph George, Stwd.; Henry M. Sholl, Tyler.

The addresses to officers and brethren were admirably delivered. A very handsome past master's jewel, manufactured by Bro. H. T. Lamb, and certainly one of the best we have seen for some time, was then presented to Bro. W. Inglis Mason, amidst the merited applause of the brethren, for valuable and earnest services to Freemasonry, as well in the Lodge itself as in the locality generally. The charity box was circulated with excellent result, and in peace and harmony the Lodge was solemnly closed.

A very excellent banquet was served at the Rose and Crown, by Bro. J. George, the host of that well-known hotel, and a Steward in the Lodge. To his wife and self many praises went forth from the guests generally for the quality and quantity of the provisions and good service, which it would be found difficult to excel in many Metropolitan hotels. After the cloth had been cleared, the usual post-prandial masonic speeches set in with vigour, relieved throughout the evening by the performance of a capital selection of vocal and instrumental music, performed under the direction of Bro. Charles Osmond, P.M. 51, P.P.G.O., by Bros. Gowers, F. B. Smythies, and R. O. Coombs. The violin solos by Bro. Smythies were extremely well rendered and called forth many expressions of satisfaction. Brevity in speech was the order of the evening, and the masonic toasts were proposed and responded to in customary set phrases, the principal replies being those of the Dep. Prov. G. Master in acknowledgment of the toast of "The Installing Master;" of Bro. Mason in that of "The I.P.M.;" of Bro. Roe in that of "The Charities;" and of Bro. Hennemeyer to the toast of "The Visitors." A collection in aid of Bro. Mason's stewardship at the forthcoming festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, resulted in adding the sum of £8 to his present list.

"ATALANTA" AT THE STRAND THEATRE.

Expectation ran high when it was reported that at the Strand, the ancient home of burlesque, there was to be a revival of the traditions of the house. Recollection of productions which are now historical and of triumphs of acting which made their originators celebrated, could not fail to arise; and, when it was stated that the subject of the travesty was a classical story which lent itself well to elaborate mise en scène and would provide plenty of opportunities for the clever company engaged to support it, anticipations of pleasure to come became all the more keen—alas! that things which begin "so bridle-y should end so saddle-y," as our friend Kellino in Nemesis observes. Atalanta has not answered expectation; the verdict of the first night, though adverse, was just; but, doubtless, improvements will soon be made which will render the burlesque more acceptable. No one ever knew a piece of this kind to be perfect on a first representation; actors and actresses after becoming more accustomed to their parts can elaborate and work up the material which they are supplied with; here, however, the author must be called in; he must reorganise his book and he must provide more matter to prevent some of the talent which has been engaged from being wasted. Judicious excision here and there and more strength substituted will tend to do what is wanted. There is no doubt that the author, Mr. G. P. Hawtreys, possesses plenty of humour, but at present it is not of that refined and subtle description which characterised the work of Past Masters of the Craft of travesty-writing. Portions of the work are humorous and graceful enough, but, at times, the fun degenerates into puerility, and weariness is the result. Another fault of the piece is that it is in three acts, while the story could well have been comprised in one. This, doubtless, is the cause of much of the weariness which characterises the production. The effervescence goes off, and, as a natural consequence, the end is tame, while noise cannot compensate for lack of humour. Great credit must be given to the Hon. Lewis Wingfield, who has designed the dresses, and to Messrs. Banks and Bruce Smith, who have painted the scenery. The groupings and stage business are in the safe hands of Mr. John Douglass, and, naturally, the result of his work is quite acceptable. But for the introduction of a lot of unnecessary and ungraceful children, this department merits the highest praise.

The interpretation taken all round was capital. As has been mentioned, however, such clever exponents of burlesque as Miss Marie Linden, Mr. Squire, Mr. Wyatt and Mr. Wm. Hawtreys were utterly wasted in being allotted the sorry stuff which was supplied them. Nevertheless, they proved themselves a tower of strength, and saved the piece at its weakest moments. Of Miss Marie Linden's performance in the title rôle, it must first be stated that her imitation of Miss Mary Anderson stands out boldly as an extremely clever and artistic effort, while her dancing is graceful and pretty. Mr. Tom Squire was admirable throughout; his business was eccentric, funny, but by no means too effusive. Mr. Wyatt worked like a veritable Trojan, and with a commendable result; his scene with Aphrodite was as excellent in its way as was that with Miss Linden. Mr. Wm. F. Hawtreys, as the king, had a capital opportunity to distinguish himself; he was unctuous, and satisfactorily fulfilled the duties allotted to him. Mr. Fleming Norton as Socrates, had no chance to be anything but insignificant. Miss Alma Stanley as Aphrodite, looked simply a picture, and sang her music so well as to gain great applause. She only appears in one act, but what she had to do was done excellently well. Mr. F. Wensley as Orpheus sang a ballad prettily. Miss Minnie Cunningham, as Daphne, danced twice, and quite won the hearts of the auditory; her first essay, in classical costume, was the prettiest thing of its kind seen for a long time; her second dance was too protracted.

A pretty little one-act play by Bro. Brandon Thomas, entitled A Highland Legacy, formed the curtain raiser. The author, excellently made up as an elderly Scotchman, acted admirably, while Mr. Percy Lyndal, as the hero, and Mr. Graham Wentworth, as our old friend De Lacy Fitz-Altemont of The Prompter's Box—here called Cavendish Howley, an actor—distinguished themselves greatly.

Two contretemps to curtains occurred on Saturday night last. At the Strand Theatre the curtain, at the end of Bro. Brandon Thomas's play, declined to go down; at the Shaftesbury Theatre the iron curtain, despite the efforts of the scene-shifters and others, declined to go up. The audience had to go away without seeing Miss Wallis as Pauline in the Lady of Lyons, and all the money taken at the doors had to be returned.

Query.—Did any of those who went in with orders receive any money on leaving the theatre? Now, Mr. Griffiths, how much were you to the bad on the receipts and the money returned?

A wag in the pit remarked, à propos of this mishap, that "curtains which wouldn't go up certainly wouldn't go down in this country."

On Monday evening all was right, however, and Miss Wallis made her appearance. She is an intelligent and earnest Pauline; while Mr. Forbes Robertson, as the lover in this popular but maukishly sentimental play, was really very acceptable. Mr. Mackintosh had an opportunity of showing his decided talent as Colonel Dumas, and all the other parts were very well played.

Mr. Gilbert's new comedy, Bramlingham Hall, is due at the St. James's Theatre on the 27th inst.

Our City Article.

AS THE MASONIC STAR is written by Masons for Masons, and as they are mostly business men having more or less interest in the Stock and Share Markets, we have determined to include in our columns a weekly money article, written by one of our Craft actively engaged in the markets. We write without prejudice, and with a view to give a general idea of what is going on from week to week. As the writer of the article has some twenty years' experience of the subject, and may fairly say that he knows the ways of doing business, what is what and who is who, he will be pleased to answer any inquiries addressed to the Editor where advice is asked upon whatever requires explanation, so that pleasure and profit may be the result. Any letter sent to us, and any reply given, will be treated on the square.

CAPEL COURT, WEDNESDAY, 21ST NOV., 1888.

The Stock markets continue to be agitated by the uncertainty respecting the movements of gold, and the impression is general that an advance in the Bank rate may be looked for. The amounts of bullion expected to arrive are but small, while the further withdrawals for South America are known to be large, so that there is little hope of any alleviation of the present stringency during this year. I am not disposed to put much reliance in the various rumours, set afloat principally in Vienna, of European complications. For one thing the present is not the time of year when any serious disturbance would be initiated, and for another the consequences would be too serious to be considered lightly; nor is there any actual burning question to the front. The fact is, perhaps, that the cheapness of money during the early part of the year carried prices up too high and too fast, and now, with so much money locked up, there is a natural stringency which it will take time to dissolve. In the present state of things, I should not care to buy any foreign stocks, with the exception, perhaps, of the Turkish grouped stocks. The latest reports from the Debt Commissioners are favourable, and give very good hopes of continued improvement; and, as these stocks have to be redeemed by the action of a sinking fund now in operation, a steady advance may be anticipated.

English rails have lately been neglected; but if I look at the satisfactory traffic returns, I cannot but think that prices will rise. North Easterns should go better, while Brighton also would be a good purchase but for the fact that every little punter is a bull of more stock than he is able to carry. Amongst this class of stocks, Furness railway should not be forgotten. Trade in the district of Barrow was for some years very dull; but, with the reopening of some of the old works and the extension of others, no other place in England shows signs of greater activity.

The rate cutting on the American railroads seems to be more serious than was at first thought; why this particular time is chosen for a rate war no one seems to know, and until matters get a little more settled we had better sit on the fence and let the Yankees play it out amongst themselves.

American affairs naturally affect the Canadian lines, and although I am in favour of the Grand Trunk properties, which always show an immense power of recuperation, I am very dubious about the Canadian Pacific. There is too much of the Yankee system in its management. Reckless extensions and a strong tendency to fight its neighbours are the main points in its programme; and this too with an empty exchequer, every available security pledged up to the hilt, and the future discounted. The fall in the price of the shares is slow, but none the less sure.

So much has been said about the Paris Copper Syndicate that for me to give an opinion on the subject seems rash, but I am satisfied to look at the immediate future; what is going to happen some years hence has but little interest for me. Those who are "bears" of copper shares prognosticate the speedy collapse of the syndicate, while the "bulls" say it will last for ever. But of this I am satisfied, that it will last quite long enough to make the bears sit up and howl. For the next year the price of copper is secure, and, consequently, the price of copper shares. Rio Tintos are the great bone of contention, and if the proposed division of the shares into smaller denominations is carried out, they will rise to 30, or the equivalent. Amongst other coppers Copiapo are the cheapest. Nitrate shares are very high, not so much on their own merits as owing to the recklessness of a certain group, who blindly follow where the Woolpack party lead, who will certainly one day clamber out on the backs of their followers.

Next Monday the fortnightly settlement commences, and we may expect heavy contango rates; and let speculators bear this well in mind, that after this one there are only two more settlements this year in which to adjust everything. Bankers have a way of making their borrowers clear out their stocks before the end of the year, so as to show as clear accounts as possible, and this process does not tend to higher prices. verb. sap.

CLOSING OF LODGES IN 2ND AND 3RD DEGREES.

To the Editor of THE MASONIC STAR.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,

I have taken THE MASONIC STAR from the period of its birth, and congratulate you on the growing progress of your "Lewis." Particularly interesting to me is the answer you have given to Bro. Sawyer in this day's number. However any W.M. can excuse himself in omitting the ritual and beautiful ceremonial of closing the M.M. Lodge is to me a great puzzle. I could never find any "authority vested in me, &c., &c.", and as we are bound by "Constitutions" to watch that the "ancient landmarks, &c., &c.", it behoves all W.M.'s to insist upon closing each lodge in due form.

I hope this matter will be pressed again and again (if necessary) upon the attention of the rulers of all Craft Lodges, and that it will be felt that it is insufferable that such a pleasurable and instructive ceremony, when neatly performed, with just the one, the solitary reference (which seems very remarkable, and therefore especially to be recognised) to K.S.

Many other points of value to which you have drawn attention have commended themselves to me, and for which I, as an old Mason, feel delighted to acknowledge and to thank you.

Yours fraternally,

P.M. (Craft), P.M. (Mark), P.H. (Arch), K.T., P.P.G.O. Devon.

KNIGHT TEMPLARY.

To the Editor of THE MASONIC STAR.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,

In reply to P. E. P., I beg to inform him that the Priory of Malta attached to the St. Cuthbert's Preceptory, Darlington, and also the one attached to the Royal Kent, Newcastle-upon-Tyne, are both worked regularly, and I believe nearly all the members of both Preceptories have taken the Malta degree.

Yours truly,

S. F. BOUSFIELD, P.E.P.

P.S.—There will be a Priory of Malta held at Darlington, on Tuesday, circular of which I enclose, and I can assure P. E. P. of a hearty reception if he will do us the honour to attend.
Darlington, Nov. 16th, 1888.

To the Editor of THE MASONIC STAR.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,

In answer to "P. E. P.," the Eminent Preceptor of a Templar Preceptory should be installed a Prior of the Order of Malta before he is entitled to wear a distinctive badge. Any K.T. Preceptory can, under its warrant, work the Malta, and if a few members make up their minds to work the degree, the ritual is not difficult to learn.

I advise those wishing to perfect themselves in the degree, to attend the meeting of Great Priory, where the Great Sub-Prior (Col. Shadwell Clerke) and his officers do the work in excellent style.

Yours fraternally,

HENRY LOVEGROVE,

26, Budge Row, E.C.

Past Grand Capt. of Guards.

PERPETUAL PRESENTATIONS.

To the Editor of THE MASONIC STAR.

DEAR SIR,

Ladies, I believe, are not generally credited with any ability as regards arithmetic. I dare say I am as incompetent in that respect as others of my sex, but I really am at a loss to understand the following :—By payment of £1,050 to either school it appears a perpetual presentation is secured to any province making such payment. This sum, I presume, is invested, as trust funds usually are, in Government securities, consequently returning at the utmost some £31 10s. per annum interest; but I find on reference that the average annual cost per pupil in the boys' school is about £50, and in the girls' about £47. It seems to me, therefore, that there must be a considerable loss to either institution on every transaction of the kind. Any explanation on the subject you can give through the medium of your journal will much oblige, Yours truly,

A (LADY) LIFE GOVERNOR OF BOTH SCHOOLS.

My husband is a subscriber to your paper. I don't profess to understand much of it, yet take some slight interest in its contents.
November 19th, 1888.

LABOUR AND REFRESHMENT.

To the Editor of THE MASONIC STAR.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,

In reference to the discussion opened last week, I would like to mention my experience. After being raised I attended a Lodge of Instruction. The ceremony of raising in my Lodge made such a vivid impression on my mind that I was led to consider masonry to be perfection. The same ceremony was presented to me in a Lodge of Instruction in so far different a light that I would prefer to draw the veil over my impression there. Should this be?

Fraternally yours,

A VERY YOUNG MASON.

Answers to Correspondents.

W. STUART, P.M., Sec. 87.—Thank you for the information you have so kindly sent us. We could wish that many other Secretaries were equally obliging.

C. WOODS, 1869.—Again we are obliged to you, and we shall hope to hear from your friend.

E. T. GRUBB.—We have sent on your communication to "Bell."

J. N. HODGKINSON, AYLESBURY.—We are obliged for communication to hand. A brief notice was given last week, and we regretted then, as we do now, that want of space prevented detailed particulars of the interesting event.

T. C., P.M. & Sec. 157.—Very sorry. Your report came too late; and, moreover, the date of meeting was so far back that the event had become "ancient history."

W.M.'S AND MAYORS.

Amongst the several brethren who will occupy the chairs of their respective lodges as Worshipful Masters, and the chairs of Chief Magistrates of their respective towns as Mayors, during the ensuing year, W. Bro. John Knott, W.M. of the "Lodge of the Four Cardinal Virtues, No. 979" has been elected Mayor of Crewe (Cheshire) and we offer his Worship our hearty congratulations.

The Whittington Lodge, No. 862, held its Installation meeting at Freemasons' Hall, on Monday last, 19th inst., when Bro. Wm. Hill, W.M., installed his successor, Bro. James Irvine, into the chair of K.S. The entire proceedings were of the most satisfactory nature and reflected great credit on all concerned. A lengthened report is crowded out of this week's issue.

Reports of Lodge & Chapter Meetings.

MERCHANTS' LODGE—No. 241.—Regular Monthly Meeting at the Masonic Hall, Liverpool, on the 13th inst. There was a large attendance of members and other brethren, amongst whom were several distinguished Prov. Grand Officers. There were two initiations and two passings, and the ceremonies connected therewith were very ably performed by the W.M. Bro. Capt. Macnab and his officers. After labour the brethren adjourned to refreshment. The W.M., in replying to the toast given by P.M. Winsor, said it gave him great pleasure to preside over a lodge which had for more than a century done excellent work in the province, and he intended to devote the greater part of his spare time to the furtherance of masonic work. They all knew the interest he took in the West Lanc. Masonic Educational Institution, and he would only remind them that without their help the usefulness of that charity would be greatly impaired. He had, however, no doubt but that the members of the Merchants' Lodge would contribute as readily now as they had done in the past, and, from what he saw of the good that institution was doing, no worthier object could merit their support. A well-arranged programme of music, under the direction of Bro. Ewart, the organist, assisted by Bros. Hogarth, Griffiths, and Latham, &c., was performed during the evening.

ARBORETUM—No. 731.—At the regular meeting of this Lodge, on the 14th inst., the Mayor of Derby, Bro. Woodiwiss, the Immediate Past Master, attended. Our distinguished brother was initiated in this Lodge about eight years ago, and has been a zealous officer throughout his career. In his response to the toast proposed in his honour, Bro. Woodiwiss, referring to the distinction which had been conferred upon him by his fellow citizens, declared that his aim would be to discharge the duties of the Mayoralty in the same spirit and with the same desire to promote the well-being of his fellows which had actuated him as a Freemason. There can be no doubt that the prediction of the W.M., Bro. J. W. Brigg, that Bro. Woodiwiss, in the discharge of his public duties would secure the same amount of confidence and respect which the brethren entertain for him as a craftsman is well founded, and we trust that our worthy brother may be spared to realise it.

JORDAN LODGE—No. 1402.—At the Masons' Hall, Torquay, Devon on Tuesday, the 13th inst. There were present amongst others :— W. Bros. T. Morgan, W.M.; T. Prust, I.P.M.; T.H. Wills, S.W.; J. McKellar, J.W.; T. Crossman, S.D.; John Taylor, J.D.; S. Wills, I.G.; F. Hent, P.M., Secy.; J. Dodge, P.M., P.P.G.T., Treas.; J. Chapman, P.M., P.P.G.S.D., Chap.; John Lane, P.M., P.P.G. Reg.; J. E. Newton, Tyler; W. Hersey, G. West, E. Henley, W. Hill. A ballot was taken for Mr. E. Henley, a candidate for initiation, and he was duly admitted into Freemasonry. The charge was very ably delivered by the I.P.M., Bro. Prust. Bro. John Chapman presented the Lodge with a framed photograph of an ancient tracing board. The lodge already possessing some valuable masonic works, it was resolved that a suitable book-case should be provided for them, in order to form the nucleus of a lodge library, Bros. J. Chapman, J. Lane, and J. Taylor promising donations of books and pamphlets. Bro. Chapman consented to renew his short addresses, in the form of a Summary of the Masonic events, month by month, and the Lodge was then closed.

PROSPECTUS.

THIS Company has been formed with the object of providing a PUBLIC SCHOOL education of the highest class for the sons of Freemasons and others, at the least possible cost consistent with efficiency. Such a school will, it is believed, meet a want already expressed by many brethren, and considering the numbers and influence of Freemasons, there is no doubt that a school supported by them cannot fail to be a great success.

As a first step the Company has contracted to purchase the freehold premises known as Craufurd College, Maidenhead, Berks, together with the playing fields (about 13 acres), fixtures, fittings, furniture, and goodwill for £16,423. of which sum the vendor takes £2,000 in fully paid-up Shares in the Company, which will take over the College as a going concern from the date of the completion of the purchase.

This property is most admirably adapted for the purpose required. It is within 25 miles of London, on the main line of the Great Western Railway. The position is particularly healthy, being on high ground and gravel soil. The premises comprise: the Head Master's residence, the College buildings, with accommodation for 127 boys, and, in addition to the ordinary requirements of a school, there are covered fives courts, a cinder track for cycling and sports, a gymnasium, carpenter's room, large tepid swimming bath, and a laboratory.

The College was founded upwards of 40 years ago, and has ever since been doing good work in the education of sons of gentlemen.

It is now, and has for some years past, been conducted under the Head Mastership of the REV. JAMES PAYNE, D.C.L., assisted by a Wrangler, and other Graduates in honours of Oxford and Cambridge, and in the last Report on the condition of the College, dated July, 1888, the REV. R. K. VINTER, M.A. (late Fellow of St. John's College, Cambridge, Examiner for the Cambridge Local Syndicate) says: "It is evident that the course of education adopted at Craufurd College is well defined and thorough. The "youngest is able to move upward step by step until he is ready to present himself for the most searching competitive examinations. "Such a plan avoids high-pressure and must recommend itself to parents as the proper and surest way of educating youth."

Arrangements have been made by which DR. PAYNE and the present staff of Masters will continue in the service of the Company, and there are at present some 50 boarders at the School. The advantage of the purchase to Shareholders is manifest, as the Company is saved the necessity of starting a school, by acquiring this long-established one, thus earning a dividend from the commencement.

There is no other school offering advantages to Freemasons; it may therefore confidently be expected that the number of pupils will speedily reach 100, in which case it is estimated that the profits of the Company will not be less than £10 per cent.

(I.) The Shares are, in the first instance, offered to Freemasons, and all vacancies in the school will be filled up first from the sons of Shareholders; in the second place from the sons of Freemasons; and lastly from the sons of the public generally. The holders of not less than five Shares may nominate a boy for admission into the school on the terms specified below.

(II.) Special exhibitions, tenable at the College, will be offered for competition to sons of Freemasons.

(III.) Scholarships will be given (as funds permit) to those who wish to proceed from the College to the Universities.

(IV.) Exhibitions will be offered to a few of the cleverest and most deserving boys of the Royal Masonic Institution, to enable them to continue their education at Craufurd College after leaving the former.

The terms are at present fixed as follows:—

BOARDERS	under 14	nominated by Shareholders	50	Guineas.
"	"	un-nominated	"	60	"
"	over 14, but under 16,	nominated	"	60	"
"	"	un-nominated	"	70	"
"	over 16, at Special Terms
DAY SCHOLARS,	nominated	20	Guineas.
"	un-nominated	24	"

The Directors are empowered (after the Shareholders have received at least £5 per cent.) to set aside the profits, or a portion thereof for the above-mentioned Exhibitions and Scholarships, and it is believed that Freemasons will assist by donations to augment this Fund. A member of the Craft has already offered two exhibitions for the benefit of boys coming from the Royal Masonic School.

Applications for Shares should be made to the Bankers, Solicitors, or at the Offices of the Company.
